BLUE COAT JUNIOR SCHOOL OFSTED REPORT

All parents/carers should have received the Junior School Ofsted report this week by email. The school was judged to be 'Good' at its previous inspection and Ofsted have confirmed that the school has maintained the standards of its provision at this level. We are delighted that this latest report celebrates the many strengths of our Junior School:

Children are happy in school and feel safe

The school is ambitious for all pupils - Pupils work hard and achieve well

Children are attentive in lessons - They listen carefully to adults and each other

The carefully designed curriculum ensures pupils achieve well over time

Pupils with special educational needs and/or disabilities and the most vulnerable make strong gains in their knowledge from joining the school

The quality of teaching and care for the children, strong and effective links with parents/carers and the strong leadership and governance of the school have all been praised by the inspector. The wonderful nature of the Blue Coat children is also celebrated in this report - the children's pride in their school and how much they value and appreciate the educational and pastoral support staff give them came across extremely clearly to the inspector.

We are now focusing on refining our maths provision and improving the way the playground is organised in response to the inspector's suggestions.

We would like to take this opportunity to thank our parents and carers for your continued support of our work at Blue Coat. It is great that the school continues to be recognised, by Ofsted, for its great provision.

With Blue Coat Infant School and Blue Coat Secondary Academy also judged to be offering good provision in previous inspections, it is great that the Blue Coat community are able to access high quality educational provision from birth to A-level!
